ACADEMIC ADVOCACY NETWORK

The Academic Advocacy Network (AAN) is a student-led system of academic advocacy coordinated by the UQ Union. AAN comprises undergraduate and postgraduate representatives in Schools and Faculties across UQ.

The UQ Union is an organisation led by democratically elected student executives. Amongst many other roles, the UQ Union advocates for students on a number of committees at the top level of the university where we lobby UQ administrators.

By linking you with student representatives across Schools, Faculties and the UQ Union, AAN is able to coordinate and combine the efforts of our members, strengthening our voice.

The overarching goal of AAN is to raise the student voice to positively impact how the university delivers your education. We want to ensure that students are represented at every level within UQ, and that students' interests are always at the forefront of university decision making. It is your unique opportunity to effect change across the whole university.

The University of Queensland Union (UQU) is now taking applications for the 2021 student representative team for students from the following schools, faculties and programs:

BEL Faculty

» Business

» Economics

» Law

EAIT Faculty

» Architecture

» Chemical Engineering

» Civil Engineering

» Information Technology and Electrical Engineering

» Mechanical and Mining Engineering

HABS Faculty

» Dentistry

» Health and Rehabilitation Sciences

» Human Movement and Nutrition Sciences

» Nursing, Midwifery and Social Work

» Psychology

» Pharmacy

HASS Faculty

» Communication and Arts

» Education

» Historical and Philosophical Inquiry

» Languages and Cultures

» Music

» Political Science and International Studies

» Social Science

Medicine Faculty

» Biomedical Sciences

» Medicine Program

» Ochsner MD Program

» Public Health

Science Faculty

» Agriculture and Food Sciences

» Biological Sciences

» Chemistry and Molecular Biosciences

» Earth and Environmental Sciences

» Mathematics and Physics

» Veterinary Science

Graduate School

To apply, please send your resume and a cover letter to josie.le@uqu.com.au by 11:59pm 28nd February 2021.

In your application, we recommend answering the following questions:

- What are you studying?
- Have you had any involvement in Faculty or School clubs?
- What year of your degree are you in?
- Have you held any representative role within your faculty or school (ie been a Student Representative on a faculty committee)?
- Do you have any other relevant experience?

If you have further enquiries about AAN, please direct them to josie.le@uqu.com.au.